Bonuses May Boost Washington Returns Nearly To 100,000.

With approximately 30,000 boosted into the ranks of income-tax-payers by war bonuses and other forms of compensation within the last six months, Harry M. Fridley, deputy collector of internal revenue in charge of the Washington branch of the district, which includes Maryland and the District of Columbia, estimates that nearly 100,000 Washingtonians will file returns this year. In 1919 there were only 60,000.

March 15 is the last day for filing the returns. Failure to file by then will incur heavy penalty. The present tax returns are based on the income received during the calendar year 1919.

WANTS HUMAN TOUCH IN ADVERTISING COPY

Value of "human interest" as a result-getter in advertising "copy" was the subject of an interesting address delivered by H. R. Whitcraft, of the Clark-Whitcraft Agency, at the semi-monthly luncheon meeting of the Washington Advertising Club, yesterday at Harvey's.

Mr. Whitcraft, who is a specialist in retail advertising, told many instances of big results to the advertiser from application of the human interest appeal in advertising. He gave illustrations by displaying model advertisements prepared in campaigns conducted by his own firm.

One illustration was a photograph of a group of boys "shooting craps" in the street, used in a furniture advertising campaign. The street scene was accompanied by a caption, "Keep your boys off the streets by making the home attractive."

Mr. Whitcraft strongly emphasized this direct appeal to the things that interest every human being as being more effective in the long run than any plan which limits itself to price presentation.

E. C. Rogers, Harry Hahn and Edgar D. Shaw spoke briefly on the importance of inducing every member of the club to take an active part in its work.

FIREMEN WIN FIGHT FOR PAY

Senate Adopts Report Granting Increases Averaging $200.

The more than 600 members of the District Fire Department won their long drawn-out fight for increased pay yesterday when the conference report on the pay bill was adopted by the Senate following a brief but spirited debate. The bill, which carries an average increase to the members of the department of $200 a year, now goes to the President for his signature.

With the increase the rank and file of the department, numbering 47 officers and 1,200 men, will receive, including the bonus, salaries averaging about $1,500 a year.

The bill provides for increases in pay to firemen of all grades, the basic pay of the privates, exclusive of the $200 bonus, being $1,400. The increases allowed in the bill are retroactive, and when the bill becomes a law with the signature of the President, the firemen will get their increased pay for back months in lump sums ranging from $200 to $500.

On motion of Senator Calder, of New York, the conference report on the fireman's bill was called up shortly after the Senate convened.

Two Senators Object. Senator Thomas, of Colorado, and Senator Dial, of South Carolina, immediately interposed with a call for a vote upon the motion to take up the bill.

Objection to the conference report was based upon the ground that the Senate conference had yielded to the House conference in giving to the firemen $200 more a year than the Senate had agreed to pay them.

Pay in Various Grades. Under the retroactive clause of the bill the firemen will receive, in addition to their regular salaries, the following amounts next month: Chief engineer, $250; deputy chief, $200; fire marshal, $200; deputy fire marshal, $200; battalion chiefs, $200; inspectors, $200; chief clerk, $200; sergeants, $200; lieutenants, $200; sergeants, $200; superintendent of machinery, $250; assistant superintendent of machinery, $200; pilots, $200; marine firemen, $1,900; marine privates, $1,700; class 1, $1,700; class 2, $1,500, and class 3, $1,300.

FUTILE TO TALK DOLLAR DECLINE

Sec'y Glass Says American Currency Is Worth Much as Ever.

"There is nothing the matter with the American dollar," says Secretary of the Treasury Glass in a letter made public yesterday.

Secretary Glass says that he is in hearty accord with the view that the practice of referring to a "50-cent dollar" is bad policy on the part of certain citizens, and is provocative of an unhealthy spirit of discontent.

"The underlying assertion, moreover, is contrary to the facts," says Secretary Glass. "There is nothing the matter with the American dollar. Its intrinsic value is unchanged, since our currency in the main rests fundamentally on gold
